INGTON-LIVELY GOSSIP. The annual meeting of the Committee on Playing Rules of the League and American Association met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday morning. Base-ball men from all over the country thronged the cor-ridors. The meeting was held in Parlor F, which was handsomely decorated with flags and bunting and many baseball emblems. The Hall and Dauvray cups, recently won by the Glants, occupie prominent ositions in the centre of the room. The committee whose actions were so closely watched was composed of Messrs. Rogers, Day and Spalding for the League, and Byrne, Barnte and Schmelz, for the Association. The committee went into secret session at 11 o'clock a. m., and were in continuous session until far into the night. They were tired when they came from room and so were the anxious hosts outside. It was a long weary day for those in the corridors, but they waited patiently for the session to end.

The delegates at once went to work on the play, ing rules, and when they got through with them their ing rules, and when they got through with their telest original framers would hardly have recognized their efforts. It took the delegates only a few minutes to recognize the absurd features in the high and low ball suggestion and it was deservedly "killed." The practical baseball men then proceeded to look for a re sensible way of increasing the batting of players, and soon found it. It was decided to throw out foul tips, but not foul flies. Three strikes and four balls will also be the rule during the coming season. The delegates argued that this plan would increase batting in just as great a ratio as the return to the high and low ball, while it would not carry with it the dis-advantages of the latter change. Of course some of the clubs favored the high and low ball rule, notably President Day and Manager Schmeiz. They liked it because it favored their clubs, or rather some of their players. This plan would have been a been to the old-time players, but it would not have been so advantageous to the young players. C. H. Byrne was the president of the committee and J. I. Regers was

Among the many well-known baseball men in the corridor were: F. K. Stearns, Thomas Loftus, W. Martin, B. C. Converse, George Primrose, Henry Didlebock, W. H. Voltz, J. Mc Glone, W. H. Becannon Didlebock, W. H. Volfz, J. Mc Glone, W. H. Becannon,

"Jack" Valentine, Joseph Gordon, Michael Kelly,
James Mutrie, George Gore, Edward Dillingham,
J. M. Curtis and the regular delegates mentioned in J. M. Curtis and the regular delegates mentioned in yesterday's paper. The regular meeting of the League will be held to-day, and a lively session it promises to be. The delegates yesterday seemed to be unanimous in the opinion that the Cleveland club would be the one admitted to take Detroit's place. The general opinion seemed to be that, willing as Cincinnati was be wooed, she would not be asked to join forces It is also highly probable that the with the League. It is also highly probable that the League will decide to day to cut its championship season from 140 to 126 games. The three delegates consert and Billings, also from Boston, Messrs. Soden, Conant and Billings, also created some interest. They say they are here for Ward's release, and propose to take it back with them to Boston. They say that they are positive that Ward will not play again in this city, and consequently feel sure of securing him. They don't like the pace, $15,000, but may ultimately grin and pay it. "Mike" Keily, "the only," walked into the hotel with his unmistakable swagger about 7 o'clock. He was surrounded by a crowd, of course. To anxious inquiries he replied: "Oh, I have come up to see the men who work for me " (meaning the owners of the Boston club). "You just want to see the Boston club." ee the Boston reporters tremble when I sweep by. He was attired in a cream-colored coat, a white tie, wore much gold and many diamonds, and looked like a real Boston "sport" just after a successful haul at faro. He is on good terms with himself.

It was whispered last night that the Washington management will be given a decided hint to strengthen its team for next year. It is said that heroic measures will be used, if necessary, to bring about this result. The Washington delegates, however. appeared unconcerned. Said Walter Hewitt, the principal stockholder of the club: "Oh, we are all right; never fear. We will strengthen our team, of course, all we can. I expect to purchase all the outstanding stock of the club in a few days, and can then run the club as I see fit."

A rule was also reason allerators and club to have

A rule was also passed allowing each club to have name of a tenth man on its score card, to take he place of any of the regular men who might become injured. The New-York and Washington club owners were seen together constantly, and the Boston dele- day evening because Dunne refused to make a comgates had good reason to get uneasy. The Washing-ton club, it is said, has been given the first chance at before the Police Commissioners. Ward, and if the Senators can raise $15,000 they will get the player, and Boston will be left.

The meeting between the committee of the Scorers, League and the baselail club owners was less shound than was expected. The scorers in their effort to have uniform scoring cast personal whites to the wind and worked in unison. The committees were still in session at midnight. Rule 28 was changed so that when a ball hit into the fair territory strikes that when a ball hit into the fair territory strikes that when a ball hit into the fair territory strikes that when a ball hit fato the fair territory strikes the umpire, it shall count as a safe hit. This can, of course, occur only when the umpire is in front of the home plate. Rule 65, paragraph 3, was also the home playe a hit. It was also decided to encourage scientific batting, and to this end records of all such plays will be made.

The question of the stolen base and total base-hit columns remained in the scores also caused a lively debate. It was finally decided to suggest that both such plays in future be placed in the summary of the score instead of in the table. Waiter Hewitt, president of the Washington club, acknowledged last night as much for his services as Boston would. The local management will, of course, lean toward Washington, as the Boston club is strong enough without Ward.

DECISION IN A LIFE INSURANCE CASE. Canadaigus, Nov. 20 (special).—A point which will command the interest of co-operative life insurance associations came up before Judge Rumsey in the Circuit Court here to-day in the case of Mrs. Emily J. Shay, of Seneca Falls, against the National Benefit of New-York. Mrs. Shay's husband, who died July 21, 1886, held a $10,000 policy in the National Benefit Society. He neglected to pay on an assessment due July 1, 1886, and on July 6 he received a second notice of the assessment. No attention was paid to it until July 20, when Shay lay on his death bed, and the amount was sent to the company by his daughter. The payment of the policy was resisted on the ground that it had lapsed through the non-payment of the assessment when it was due, and that in order to revive it a certificate of good health was required. Suit was begun and to-day Judge Rumsey directed a verdict for the plaintiff for #11,200.

NO CLEW TO THE MURDERER OF DUNNE.

The police-detectives got no fresh clew yesterday to the man who knocked Thomas F. Dunne down at Broadway and Fulton-st. and fractured his skull Sunday evening. They thought the man probably lived in Philadelphia, and had gone home without knowing that he had inflicted a fatal injury. Inspector Byrnes has sent a detective-sergeant to Philadelphia to help the police of that city search for the "accidental murderer." Policemen Collins and Mc-Quade, who let the man go free in Broadway on Sup-

Congress, which is composed of representatives of the various benevolent associations, was begun yesterday at the Murray Hill Hotel. Thirty-five delegates were present, representing a score of orders with an aggregate membership of 650,000. Chief among these are the Ancient Order of United Workmen, the Knights of Honor, the Royal Arcanum, the American Legion of Honor, the Knights of Maccabees, the Royal Society of Good Fellows, the Equitable Aid Union, and the Endowment rank of the Knights of Pythias.

The congress is not a legislative body. Its object is to receive reports from various bodies and from what is learned from plans which if adopted may be of benefit to all. Suggestions made are thoroughly discussed, and if found to be of value are recommended for adoption by all the societies. Warren Patten, of Boston, one of the Supreme Trustees of the Ancient Order of United Workness, is president of the congress. To-day the election of officers will take place.

DE BAUN MAY BE BROUGHT BACK SOON.

Two charges of forgery have been formulated against Charles I. Deliaun, the defaulting bank cashier, who is now under arrest at Sherbrooke, Canada, and Assistant District-Attorney Lindsay went to Canada recently to see that the Warrant of extradition which has been ordered by the Canadian judges included both charges. An extradited criminal can be tried only on the charges on which he is extradited, and to make sure that DeBaun did not escape on a technicality on a single complaint a second one was prepared. Mr. Lindsay returned yesterday from Sher-brooke. He says that Delsaun is in despair over the result of his fight against extradition. He will probably be trought to this city soon.

SUING WILLIAM M. IVINS.

MRS. STONE SAYS THAT HE CHEATED HER IN A STOCK TRANSACTION

City Chamberlain William M. Ivins appeared in Part L of the Superior Court yesterday, before Chief Justice Sedgwick and a jury, as defendant in a suit brought by Mrs. Madge Stone, to recover $2,000. W. Bourke Cockran, Leicester Holme and John Delahunty appeared for the plaintiff, and Carter, Rollins & Ledyard for the City Chamberlain. Mrs. Stone claims that on October 24, 1880, the defendant sold her 350 shares of the stock of the International Chemical Company of New-York, with intent to defraud and deceive; that he had fraudulently represented to her that he ther owned the stock, and that he sold the same to her for $4,000. She paid $2,000 down at the time of the sale, and was to pay the balance on the delivery of the stock. She entered into an agreement with Mr. Ivins, but when she found out, so she says, that he was not the owner of the stock, and that he had sold it to her under false pretences, she demanded the return of the money paid, and gave him notice of her desire to rescind the contract. A contract between William M. Ivins, Roger A. Pryor, Daniel M. Lamb and others, she claimed, was part of a preconcerted plan to cheat her. Mrs. Stone testified that when she called on Mr. Ivins for the return of the money he said that he had not got the amount in hand, and it was too late to get it from the banks. The money had not been paid. In response to her repeated applicafrom the office of William M. Ivins, which said: "Some days ago you called on me with your attorney and asked me, as a matter of favor to you, to rescind our agreement of February 24, 1880, and repay to you $2,000 paid by you thereupon. I made you certain alternative propositions to relieve you in your emergency, and among other things offered to cancel agree-ment, thus relieving you from all further paymentconveying to you one half of the interest described in the form r, in consideration of what you have already paid me. If you prefer not to rescind in part, and want to rescind entirely and receive back the $2,000 as you at first requested, let me know."

The witness said that she paid the $2,000 for stock, and not for Mr. Ivins's rights in the company, as was claimed by the defendant. Mr. Carpenter introduced the subject of the purchase of the stock to her, and on recommendation she became interested in the ransaction.

Frank B. Carpenter, who was the secretary of the International Chemical Company, testified that he was interested in the promotion of the company, and that standard for the United States. Marcs get the usual allowance of three pounds, but geldings must carry full weight. Here is the new schedule up to a mile and a half:

Before Judge O'Gorman in the Superior Court yesterday a curious case came up for trial. In 1866 the People's Gaslight Company wanted to secure contracts for lighting the streets of this city, and President Robert W. Millbank engaged ex-Congressman Morgan Jones to " put the matter through" before the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Jones was formerly the President of the Beard, and Millbank gave him $5,000 in cash and 250 shares of the company's stock for the services to be rendered. The bill was passed by the Aldermen of that period but was vetoed by the Mayor, the Aldermen of that period but was veloce by the Mayor, and the gas company subsequently passed out of existence. Millbank new sues Jones for the return of the $5,000, on the ground that Jones did not get for the company the centract as agreed upon. Millbank asserts that the money contract as agreed upon. Millbank asserts that the money is his own property, and Jones asserts that the money was given to him for his "influence" with the Aldermen. The case will go before a jury to-day.

HOPS-From Emmet Wells's circular of the 20th; New York.—The fend hope indulged in by many that we would see a better market soon after the election has not yet been realized; in fact, just the reverse state of things now exists, and we are compelled to make a further reduction our quotations of about two sents per fb. on the entire field. The scarcity of choice btates and the experience of over 3 000 bales of factifies for the word of a few of our dealers are of the opinion that of the experience of over 3 000 bales of factifies for the well-dealers of over 3 000 bales of factifies for the well-dealer of the first own to find the sent of the experience of the first own of factifies for the word of a few of our dealers are of the opinion than on shall see still lower prices before the turn of the year. The question naturally suggests itself, what is the cause of all this depression? Why should choice hope deeline in value if they are as scarce as reported to be! Our home brewers certainly are using hope right along, but they are not using new hops in large quantities. Many of them are known to be carrying good supplies of old hops, which they are using with a small mixture new. Many brewers whose stock on hand of new hops usually at this time of year can be counted by the hundreds and even by the thousands of bales are absolutely bare of stock; and when they are compelled to buy they purchase in homeopathic doses of 5 bales or less at a time, just enough to keep the machine going and keep even with the market; this, no doubt, is good policy on their part, especially on a decline market filke the present. State hops seem to reclive little or no attention on the London market at this time, in fact, they are not quoted at all, and whenever that exporters will clean up the entire stock of Pacifics hefore taking many more States; this will give our home brewers the chance to step in and buy up the few good States foreign demand, they will "get left" when they come to look around for good States.
